A Clever Swindler. As'a certain learned Judge in Mexico, some time since, walked one morning into court, he thought he would examine whether he was in time for business; and, feeling for his repeater, found that it was not in his pocket.

"As usual," said he to a friend who accompanied him, as he passed through the crowd near the door, "as usual, I have again left my watch at home under my pillow." He took his seat on the bench, and thought no more of it. The court adjourned, and he returned home. As soon as he was quietly seated in his parlor, he bethought him of his time-piece, and turning to his wife, requested her to send for it to their chamber.

"But, my dear Judge," said she, "I sent it to you three hours ago!" "Sent it to me, my dear? Certainly not!"
"Unquestionably!" replied the lady; "and by the person you sent for it."

'The person I sent for it!" echoed the "Precisely, my dear, the very person you sent for it! You had not left your home more than an hour when a well dressed man knocked at the door and asked to see me. He brought one of the finest turkeys I ever saw; and said that on your way to court you met an Indian with a number of fowls. Having bought this one at a bargain, you had given him a couple of reals to bring it home, given him a couple of reals to bring it home, with the request that I would have it killed, picked, and put to cool, as you intended to invite your brother judge to a dish of molle with you to-morrow. And, "Oh! by the way, senorita," said he, "his excellency the judge requested me to ask you to please go to your chamber and take his watch.

it as usual this morning and send to him by me.' And, of course, me querido, I did so.
"You did!" said the judge. "Certainly!" said the lady.
"Well, replied his honor, 'all I can say to you my dear, is that you are as great a goose as the bird is a turkey. You've been robbed, madam; the man was a thief; I never sent for my watch; you've been imposed upon,

from under the pillow, where he says he left and as a necessary consequence, the watch is The trick, was a cunning one; and, after a laugh, and the restoration of the judge's good humor by a good dinner, it was resolved actually to have the turkey for to-morrow's dinner, and his honor's brothers of the bench to enjoy so dear a morsel. Accordingly, after the adjournment of court next day, they all repaired to his dwelling, with appetites sharpened by the expectation of a rare repast. Scarcely had they entered the sala and exchanged the ordinary salutations, when the lady broke forth with congratulations to his honor upon the recovery of his stolen watch!

'How happy am I," exclaimed she "that the villain was apprehended!"
"Apprehended?" said the judge, with sur-

'You are always talking riddles," replied he; "explain yourself, my dear. I know nothing of the thief, watch or conviction." "It can't be possible that I have been again deceived," quoth the lady; but this is the story: About one o'clock to-day, a pale and rather interesting young gentleman, dressed in a seedy suit of black, came to the house in great haste,—almost out of breath. He said that he was just from court; that he was one of the clerks; that the great villain who had the audacity to steal your honor's watch had just been arrested; that the evidence was nearly perfect to convict him; and all that was required to complete it, was the turkey, which must be brought into ourt; and for that he had been sent with a porter by your express orders."

"And you gave it to him!" "And you gave it to him?"
"Of course I did! Who should have doubted him, or resisted the orders of a judge?"
"Watch and turkey both gone!" Pray, madam, what are we to do for a dinner?" But the lady had taken care of her guests, nowithstanding her simplicity, and the party enjoyed both the joke and their vi-- Mayer's Mexico as It Was.

NEW YORK CITY. Supplemental Treaty Meeting-Political Matters.

New York, May 15.—The announcement that dispatches had been received from Minister Schenck preparing a supplemental treaty, etc., gave rise to considerable comment among the merchants of this city, and caused a letter to be addressed by prominent members of the Chamber of Commerce to Wm. E. Dodge, Secretary, asking that a meeting be called this afternoon for a free expression of opinion. The letter is signed by twelve of the most influential names in the city, and was at once complied with by the Secretary.

It is believed that they will strike at an early day. Rochester, May 15.—Delegates to the Democratic State Convention arrived in considerable numbers yesterday. The prospect is that the Convention will be fully attended.
W. C. Dewitt, delegate from Brooklyn, makes the leading speech, in which he will advocate the endorsement by the Democracy of Greeley as their conditions.

Greeley as their candidate. [Special to the Cincinnati Commercial.] The Herald accounts for Voorhees's attack on Greeley by an interview between him and Senator Conkling, the two red heads together producing a natural fire and explosion, and from dislike of Voorhees to Hendricks, and from dislike of Voorhees to Hendricks, who has uttered words of conciliation toward the Liberal Republicans. It is the old jealousy, and, in this case, very deliberate, for the writer says: "That this whole affair was premeditated, is further evidenced by the fact that Voorhees could not have made such a speech, brimming full of historical allusions, without studied preparation, and further by the fact that he acation, and further by the fact that he acknowledged to a friend to-night, "I have knowledged to a triend to-mgnt, I have mad this thing a study; I lay awake think-ing about it so long, that I dreamed of it last night; I don't think I have made a mis-take, but I feel that I have done my duty."

Private advices from New York state that the New York Demo-ratic Convention, which meets at Rochester to-morrow, will not openly indorse Mr. Greeley, but will send a delegation to Baltimore favorable to his nomination. It is understood that Mr. Kerr, of Indiana, is of the opinion that the Democratic party can not, without dishonor to itself and great njury to the country, accept Mr. Greeley as ts candidate. Other members of the Indiana Democratic delegation incline to the same belief, while the Missouri Democrats in Con-

The Tribune special from Elmira says a large number of delegates to the Republican tonwood. The aggregate value is enormous. The Diminution of the Rain Fall.

[From the New York Herald.] The intelligence which reaches us from arious parts of the world seems to invest this question with present and paramount importance. In a recent article we commented on the exceptional and phenomenal cold of the past winter, and showed that it might, perhaps, be attributable to the per-iodic return of what eminent meteorologists have called "the cold wave" through which our planet is supposed to pass once in every ten or fifteen years. The Astronomer Royal of Scotland, in common with other able and cautious physicists, predicted last year such an event, and sought to explain it on broad cosmical principles. Whether correct or not in their reasonings, there can be no doubt now that the prediction was verified in fact. The diminution of our annual heat supply derived from solar radiation, it is easy to see, will be marked by a diminution in the amount of water evaporated from the billows of the ocean and delivered to the winds to be transported over the great continental masses of the globe for their irrigation and re-freshment. The rainfall statistics and returns for the present year, so far as received, appear to bear out the nat-ural inference from the above facts, and give us timely warning to be prepared for great scarcity of water during the coming summer. We already know, by experience that the rains of the season have fallen shor of their usual abundance this spring in the United States, although the condensation of this past week has been considerable. The returns from England, carefully collated by Mr. Glaisher, give a general average of only twenty, two inches for the past year, while the proper mean rainfall of England is thirty inches. The deficiency of eight inches of the usual fall may be roughly estimated the proper a million galions of water for at over a million galions of water for every square mile of British territory; and should be carefully noted. In the tropics, where the atmospheric machinery takes up the greatest amount of moisture from the sea for terrestrial distribution, we find similar results, 1 From the returns of the windward West Indies the official figures for last December show a deficiency greater than has December show a deficiency greater than has been known in the twenty-four years preceding; and the average of the year 1871 was tweniy-eight per cent, or more than one-fourth below that of the preceding twenty-four years. For the month of January, 1872, the returns are still more discouraging, the average falling short of that for the same month of the twenty-five preceding years by thirty-five per cent., or more than one-third.

THERE are no details yet of the President's message to the Senate on the Washington treaty muddle.

MR. GREELEY has retired from the Tribune in order that he may not interrupt or annoy his supporters. This is wise in Mr. Greelev.

MARSHALL BAZAINE has been arrested and will have a speedy trial before a special court martial. That matters should have gone to such an extreme, would seem to indicate there was some foundation for the charges made against him of inefficiency and treachery in the surrender of Metz.

PARSON GOODWIN is troubled by brother-in-law and knows how it is himself. In to-day's American he says: "We "are for the nominee of the Philadelphia "Convention, and we are very clearly of "the opinion that that nomination ought "not to be General Grant nor anybody "else who has too many brothers-in-laws. Brothers-in-laws are troublesome some-

THE Cincinnati Enquirer is of opinion that the less Mr. Jefferson Davis has to say about politics the better, as his views have not been valuable since the year 1865. It remarks:

"Figuratively speaking," if somebody down at Memphis would tie a grindstone about Mr Davis's neck, and quietly drop him into the Mississippi River, we would use our best endeavors to have the sentence made as light

THE extremely small quantity of rain that has fallen this spring is already causing great loss. Great fires have broken out in the mountains of New York and Pennsylvania, and complaints come from other parts of the country that the streams are lower than ever, and the ground is parched. If there is such a condition of things now, what may be expected before the summer is over? We publish in another column an extract from the New York Herald, containing some interesting speculations upon this subject.

from Connecticut, and presages a Liberal victory. In the election for United States Senator the Administrationists nominated General Hawley, while the Liberal Republicans and the Democrats vesterday nominated Senator Ferry, the present incumbent and a Republican of no uncertain standing. The election comes off today, and Senator Ferry will have a majority on joint ballot of eight or ten. Unless something should occur he will be elected and in a few days will doubtless discover that in the opinion of administration papers he has always been a traitor instead of "a truly loyal man."

WE do not believe the Chicago Inter-Ocean will make anything by its attacks upon the business of the Tribune. The Inter-Ocean is a good paper, carefully edited, and deserving of success. But if it is successful it must make a business for itself. It can not build itself up at the expense of another paper, no matter how much dissatisfaction with that paper may apparently exist, and we happen to know that the Tribune was never so prosperous. No paper has ever succeeded by such a course, and if the manager of the Inter-Ocean are wise they will put their paper upon its merits, and not upon its opposition to the Tribune. The newspaper reading public is more acute than some men think, and never pays its money unless it gets its money's worth.

THE Republican Congressional Convention for this District will meet at Danville on the 12th of June, and will nominate Gen. Coburn for re-election. We have never had a Representative who retained his seat for so long a time and gave such general satisfaction. So far as we can learn there is not the slightest opposition . to him in the party. He has done one or two things his friends regret, the chief of which was his dismissal of the New York Tribune's correspondent from the clerkship of the Committee on Military Affairs last week, but in the main his course has been prudent and able. He has exercised more influence upon legislation than any of his predecessors, and has taken a much higher place in Con-

Sense and Nonsense.

A "red-hot" Democrat writes to the Sentinel that the Democracy has again been sold out by the New York bondholders as they were in 1868, and that sending the Convention to Baltimore is a proof of it. He says:

The bondholders have got a sure thing with Grant, and do you suppose that any such Democrat or Republican is such a fool as to consent to a change. The trump card dry off. The boy is very indifferent about that will be nice. That will be nice. The trump card dry off. The says he believes he dosen't care for them as much as he used to.

Convention; do it at any hazard, and no matter how it is done, nor the means used, but do it is the word; nominate a popular Democrat-Hendricks, for instan -run him, get all the strength you can for him, and then, whether Greeley runs or, not, Grant is one-third best, and wins the race. That Baltimore arrangement is a set-up job for Grant. Now you mark it.

While we have no doubt that the writer is correct in thinking there is nothing the administrationists desire so much as the nomination of a regular Democratic ticket, his talk about the bondholders is all stuff. The time for that passed in 1868. The Cincinnati Convention is thoroughly and irrevocably committed in favor of paying every dollar of the debt in the way it was contracted and there is no sense in blowing about the bondholders, for it is simply a hint at repudiation. The bondholders have no more interest. so far as their claims upon the government go, in the election of General Grant than of Mr. Greeley, for whichever may succeed their rights will not be trifled with. If there is any one thing the American people are fixedly determined to do, it is to pay their honest debts to the last copper.

A Tall Sycamere Shaken by the Wind. Mr. Voorhees's diatribe against Greeley is not received with much favor by the Democratic press and public. Some of his warmest friends here condemn him strongly and affirm that he has made a 'conspicuous ass' of himself, a not unusual thing for him to do. The spectacle of Ben Butler congratulating him upon his support of the administration is disgusting to most of them, and ought to be to him, for you can set it down as pretty safe doctrine that when such a fellow as Butler is in favor of anything every honest man ought to be against it. Mr. Voorhees is angry because Mr. Greeley has been nominated. He can see no reason why the Democrats should support him, nay he thinks they should rather support General Grant, for he is a Democrat by instinct and education, and until he was nominated for President never professed to be anything else. Mr. Voorhees could have supported Judge Davis, or almost any other candate before the Cincinnati Convention, but as for Mr. Greeley-ugh! his soul fills with bitter disgust at the idea. What consistency is there in this Why is one Republican less obnoxious than another to Mr. Voorhees, when they have all advocated the same measures and held the same views? We don't know nor do we believe Mr. Voorhees's illogical mind will ever beable to tell.

Such a course, however, was to be expected from the man. He is a showy shallow demagogue, with a superficial brilliancy that carries well with the masses. He is by no means far-seeing, and as a political leader is utterly unsafe, while as a legislator he is almost as great a failure as Colfax. We have at different times given our opinion of him, which was only formed after a watchful consideration of his life and public actions. What that opinion is, most readers of The News know, and for one we are not sorry that he has made this speech, for it may lead to his retirement from public life, a thing to be wished for. In consorting with THE first gun of the campaign comes Ben Butler he has found his political level and in such association will have an ample opportunity of confirming himself in the opinion expressed in his "classical" orations, that the degraded, sensual Greeks and Romans were so much superior in morality, education and other elements of civilization to the American people. Vale Voorhees.

Strange Taste.

In a recent number of the Philadelphia Ledger we find the following advertisement: WANTED-AN ACTIVE YOUNG MAN, ABOUT eighteen years old, to work on a circular saw, etc., etc.

It now becomes a question of painful in terest whether an active young man of eighteen years procured this situation, and, if so, what particular position he occupied upon that buzz-saw. We do not profess to have a particularly intimate acquaintance with machinery; but it does not seem to us, looking at the subject in every conceivable light, that in whatever attitude that young seated himself on the saw while at work he must have been in a certain sense as it were, uncomfortable—particularly if the saw in motion. It appears indeed as if the saw would do more work than the young man, even if he were very unusually astive. strange how human beings will consent to engage in the deadly avocations for a little filthy gain. We would not work upon a buzz-saw for all the money that has been stolen from the city by political thieves for the last fifteen years, unless we had three or four thicknesses of boiler iron around our person and a couple of accident insurance policies in our pocket. But men's tastes differ.—[Max

Two New Religious Sects.

Two new religious sects have lately been added in England to the countless number already existing there, one called the Walworth Convulsionists and the other calling themselves the Peculiar People. The leader of the first is a Mrs. Girling, who calls herself a seven-deviled woman, although she says she has rid herself of the tormenton which once possessed her. The meetings of Mrs. Girling's followers have been interrupted by scoffers, who were arrested by the police. An examination in court led to an explanation of her doctrines. She said that the manifestations which had attracted attention to her meetings occur when the wor-shippers feel the word of God, and when it falls on them they remain in an unconscious state for some time, after which they are impelled to dance. All who dance have passed from death to life; the death takes place during the period of unconsciousnes and some persons take seven hours in pass ing from the old state of Adam to the newat least, so says Mrs. Girling. The Peculiar People believe that they are the social objects of divine protection and permit their children to die of accidents or illness witheut calling in medical assistance, because they have faith that God will heal them naturally, if it is His will that they supernaturally, should recover.

He Don't Go to the Circus Now. A nice little boy in Pittsburgh went to the circus the other day, and amused himself by throwing stones at the elephant while he was drinking. When he got through, the boy tried to propitiate him by offering him a piece of gingerbread. Before accepting the cake, the elephant emptied about sixtygallons of water, beer measure, over the boy, and then swung him into the third tier to as to cover the tall trees that surround them.

Almost Incredible.

When Jacob courted Mary Jane,
A lass without a fault he thought her,
And ev'ry ev'ning, fair or rein,
Attired in his best he sought her.
She's bonest, true, and kind, said he,
And she is pretty in her features;
And if she'll only marry me,
We'll be the happiest of creatures,

His parents, hearing how he felt, And noticing his eager flurry, Said: "Son, be cautious. She won't melt. Don't be in such a precious hurry. Her family are not renowned. Her family are not renowned For being quite as meek as Moses, And some who married in it found No end of thorns among the roses.

"I'll try her temper," Jacob cried, "In all the ways by spite invented;"
But e'er a dozen tricks he'd tried, His own good nature sore repented. he more he teased, to make her mad, Instead of vixen spunk revealing, She only seemed as meekly sad As comes of wounded tender feeling.

No longer seeing room to doubt
That she was mild beyond expression,
Our Jacob brought the question out,
And she surrendered at discretion.
In proper course the wedding came,
With orange blooms and tears and laughter;
A bridal tour to crown the same,
And a pretty cottage soon thereafter.

But ah, alas, for Jacob's peace! Ere yet the honeymoon was over,

Bis Mary's temper broke the lease
He thought he had on life in clover.
From being gentle as of old,
And shedding tears when he'd offend her, She turned into a perfect scold, As ugly as the Witch of Endor!

Astounded at the fearful change, And wond'ring how he had been blinded, The bapless man could not arrange The question's answer as he minded; Till, at her father's house, one day He put the query quite emphatic: "How did you take me in that way?" Said she, "I'll show you, in the attic."

"You see it's nearly worn in twain, Or seems to be, with weight it's carried; But with my teeth I gnawed the grain, A fortnight, just, before we married! "Whenever you would tease me most,
And then had gone, and left me beaming,
I used to come and gnaw that post,
To keep myself from raging screaming!
I knew you'd never know your mind,
If temper I should show forbade you."
Said Jacob, "that, my dear, was kind;
But don't I wish some other had you!"

A Man and His Daughter Killed by an Electric Ball.

[Lone Jack, Mo. (April 30), Correspondence of In dependence Sentinel.

During the rain that fell here on last evening from a cloud from the southeast, fell an electric ball, striking the north side and west end of Mr. David Thomas's house, killing him and a grown daughter. All the family consisting of nine persons, were in the room at the time, but none except the father and daughter were even stunned by the shock. The young lady was sitting near the end of the house when the lightning came through and killed her instantly. Mr. Thomas was sitting, leaning against the north side near a window. The particles of electric fluid passed in above the window to his head and hair on fire, so shocking him that he died in a short time, though the fire was extinguish ed by his son and water applied to him free ly to effect his recovery.

Directions for the Sick Room.

A person who is sick enough to need night watchers, needs rest and quiet, and all the undisturbed repose he can get. If one or more are in the room reading, talking or whispering, as is often the case, this is impossible. There should be no light burning in the room unless it be a very dim one, so placed as to be out of sight of the patient. Kerosene should never be used in the sick room. The attendant should quietly sit or ie in the same room, so as to be within cal if anything is required. In extreme cases the attendant can frequently step quietly to the bedside to see if the patient is doing well, but all noise and light should be carefully excluded. It is a common practice to awaken patients occasionally for fear they will sleep too soundly. This should never be done. Sleep is one of the greatest needs of the sick, and there is no danger of their getting too much of it.

A mammoth diving-bell is being construct ed in San Francisco, with which it is intended to prospect the reported golden sands on the northern coast of California. Several attempts have been made to mine this locality, which is now below low water mark, in the black sand of the sea shore; but the short ness of the time allowed the miners between the ebb and flow of the tides, and the greadistance over which the auriferous sand has to be conveyed, have hitherto deterred speculators from entering into any scheme for obtaining the precious metal from this source. What pobler and more truthful eulogium has been pronounced upon life insurance than this by Elizur Wright:

The civilization of this continent has no institution of which it has a better right to be proud. It is the standing together, shoul der to shoulder, of hosts of manly men, to defend each other's homes from the enemy who shoots on the sly and in the dark. It is the realization of fraternity without the destruction of independence and individuality It is a charity without cant, which enriche ne giver and does not humiliate the receiver.

Some of the smaller life insurance companies of the country are feeling the disadvantage of their comparatively small proportions in a somewhat serious manner. The business of the Amicable Life last year is said to have taken for death claims and exnenses more than eleven per cent of the amount at risk, and that of the Hercules Life more than nine per cent. When it is noted that the average percentage of claims and expenses for the companies generally in this country is only about two and a half per cent., the significance of the above companes' experience will be readily appreciated.

Probably no city in this country has had more hard-working agents within its corporate limits than Cincinnati, and we believe no city can show a larger ratio of policy holders to insurable lives, for our merchants, manufacturers and business men have gener ally enjoyed a wide reputation for fore thought in business, and this business ability is further shown by their general practice of carrying some protection on what to their families represents capital, for why should not one's head and hands, being a source of income, be insured, as well as buildings or merchandise? The number of insurers who carry heavy amounts, may be judged to be large, from the fact that two of our old companies have more than 600 policies in force, from $10,000 to $25,000 each. The average amount of each policy in force will average in this county about $3,000 thus it will be seen the amount at risk is to be computed by millions; and probably not more than one in five of the insurable lives are represented. The oldest policy in force is number 171 issued by the Mutual Life i 1843-twenty-nine years ago-the holder o fair to stand by the company a quarter of a centuary longer. We hear of a few who hold policies amounting to from $50,000 to $100,000 each, but these are exceptional, the general desire being not to indemnify, but to protect.—[Cincinnati Guide.

A Nice Spirit to Have &round.

A California boy died, and his mother, who is a spiritualist, tells people that since the death of her son she has had several interviews with him. While she was preparing the corpse for burial he appeared, and said that "he did not think he would make such an ugly-looking corpse," adding other jocular remarks. She continued that during the whole process of dressing him after death he was present in the room and cut up antics such as jumping around and standing on his hands. When alive he was always in good spirits and very jovial.

The Japanese Excessively Polite. The Hon. E. Peshine Smith (Phœbus, etc., writes from Japan: "I was struck at once with the independent, self-respecting air of the people. They are exceedingly courteous; two gentlemen bow to each other till their bodies are parallel to the earth. There is, indeed, a very distinct respect for rank, bu no snobbishness. If I go to a tinsmith, as I did that afternoon, to order a sheet-iron stove, he gets down on his hands and knees and remains so while we are speaking; but he looks you in the face like an honest man who does not think you are of any different sort of clay than himself, and has not the stamp which people wear who are accustomed to being oppressed and humiliated. It is simply excessive politeness."

INDIANAPOLIS WHOLESALE MARKET.

WEDNESDAY, May 16. Trade since last quotations has been very active in the dry goods department. Sales to country merchants are on the increase, but collections are slow and hard to make. Grain has shown a spec ulative tendency since the last quotations, and there is a marked advance in prices. Sales on Tuesday of wheat were made as high as $2 05, but the regular rates are the same as given below Flour is steadily advancing, especially in the fancy and family brands-all owing, like the advance in grain, to speculation. A depression in the marke may be looked for at any time. The provision market rules firm, with supply and demand about equalized.

A few of the many reasons why the Citizens of Indianapolis and vicinity should patronise the Spencer House Ticket Office:

1st. Because it is the only Ticket Office in the City of Indianapolis where the traveller can be furnished with any information in regard to the Shortest, Best and Quickest Routes from Indianapolis to all points, North, South, East and West.

2d. It is the only Railroad Ticket Office where you can be furnished with correct Time Cards of all the Railroads centering here, showing distances, time of arrival and leaving, and connections of all trains running into the Union Depot.

3d. It is the only Office in the city where you can get Tickets at Reduced Rates to all points, where competition is offered by rival lines.

4th. It is the only General Railroad Ticket Office where the public can see correct Railroad Maps, etc., and have the Shortest, Quickest, and Best Lines pointed out.

5th. It is the only Office where any inducement is offered to Emigration, either in Tickets or Freights; the only place where Emigration is made a specialty. See Emigrants, Take Noticel See 6th. The only place where you can get Tickets at all hours, or have them delivered to your house, office, or place of business, at all times, free of charge.

These are but a few of the many reasons that can be adduced why the citizens of Indianapolis and vicinity should support an outside or city office; and as we have undertaken this new enterprise in the face of the combined influences of the several Railroads centering here and the Union Depot Ticket Office, we can but simply beg the patronage of the travelling public, assuring you that the truthfulness of these suggestions can be seen upon investigation. An Old Mortgage.

Some days ago Hiram Bacon sold the tract of Mand known as Malott Park to certain individuals, and in the conveyance Elliott. was directed to make out an abstract of the title. While hunting through the records Mr. E. discovered an unsatisfied mortgage calling for $300, which had been executed by Mr. Bacon, January 14, 1835, to N. B. Palmer, the Superintendent of the Land Office of the State. The money was loaned Mr. Bacon from the College Fund, and was repaid Nov. 20, 1837, and due receipt taken. Mr. B., however, failed to have satisfaction of the mortgage made at the County Recorder's office, and had forgotten the matter entirely antil his attention was called to it by Mr. Elliott. In looking over his old papers be discovered Mr. Palmer's receipts, and this Albany, Mt. Carmel and St. Louis road. TERRIBLE ACCIDENT. Man Falls Down a Stairway and Seriously Injured. Between one and two o'clock this morning Captain Valentine Jacobs, at present employed as special watchman in the City Garroceedings supplementary to execution. Trial by den, fell down a rear stairway at 174 East Washington street, and was picked up in an unconscious condition. There seems to have been unpleasant relations existing between him and a Mrs. Wickerly, and the parties had been quarreling for several hours.

Mrs. W., fearing violence, called in police assistance, and Jacobs was induced to leave. Afterwards he returned and commenced making violent demonstrations in his attempt to break in the door. Mrs. W.'s call for help was answered by Officer George Taft and some others. The "Gallant Captain", hearing them coming up the front entrance, started to retreat by the rear stairway, but lost his footing and fell to the stone pavement beneath-a distance of nearly thirty feet. He was picked up by the officers and conveyed to his residence on Louisiana street, near New Jersey, where it was ascertained that his injuries are of a very serious and even fatal nature. In the fall he struck directly upon the right side of the head, eracking the skull and producing concussion of the brain. The bones of the wrist of the right hand also appear to have been broken. At last accounts he was still lying in an unconscious condition, and his friends had given up all hopes of his recovery.

There is a probability that nothing but Jacobs's intoxicated condition prevented his immediate death at the time of the accident. The sound of his body striking the pavement was distinctly heard across the street, and alarmed every one in the immediate neighborhood.

Amusement Matters.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.-Janauschek, the reowned tragedienne, supported by a powerful dramatic company, commences an engagement this evening at the Academy-appearing in her wonderful impersonation of 'Mary Stuart." The Houston Times, in criticising her appearance as Deborah, says: To see her in this truly great character, and in Mary Stuart, Medea, Hermione and Lady Macbeth, is to be satisfied of the truth of two opinions which have been expressed by the best critics—that this lady, although speaking a foreign language as her mother tongue, being a native of Prague, has really, become the first actress of the English and American stages, and that it is evidently her mission to contribute greatly to the ival of the classic drama. Reserve seats are now selling at Pearson &

Dickson's, and can be secured for each evenng throughout her engagement.

NORTH WESTERN CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY .-The complimentary entertainment for the benefit of Professor Alcott attracted a good audience. METROPOLITAN. - The minstrel scene openng last night was the occasion of much sport to the actors individually, and the audience aking the cue from them, laughed and shouted immoderately. The other parts of the programme were varied, and some of them of considerable merit.

A Query.

Competent judicial authority has decided hat in street improvements the earth taken holders. Opinions in support of this decision | guests require it, the famous Halford Leicesnearly every City Attorney, and it has also the finest relish for the table. been upheld by the higher Courts. Heretofore it has been customary by the Council to order surplus dirt taken from a street deposted in the nearest low alley, and if there were bowlders or gravel, then they were considered the property of the city, to be used by the Street Commissioner in making needful repairs elsewhere. Taking this view of the question, then, by what right is the Illi-JUDGE ELLIOTT is of the judical opinion nois street tunnel contractor selling the dirt (as is alleged) from the excavation now being made at the intersection of Illinois and Lousiana streets? Part of the bowlders dug up on account of this tunnel are alleged to have been taken to South East street. If so, were they deposited there as the property of the Illinois street. Owing to the vigilance of a city, or of the person who has the contract for improving the street; or, if sold to the latter, have the proceeds been placed to the credit of the property holders residing near the tunnel? These be pertinent questions; who will rise and explain?

BUSINESS NOTICES.

This is the phrase applied by His Blackness, the Moor of Venice, to the fair ladies of Italy. It was the lovely complexion of Desdemona, such a radiant contrast to his own, that won his heart; and sooth to say, every man of discernment censiders a fair skin like a sweet voice, "an excellent thing in woman." Now this is a charm which can be acquired. There is a healthful and odoriferous toilet article, known everywhere as Hagan's Magnolla Balm, which literally transfigures a cloudy or sallow skin, suffusing the discolored face, neck, arms and bosom with a soft, pearly tinge, and imparting to the surface smoothness and a gloss like that of polished marble. Instead of clogging the pores, like the sticky enamels, or contracting with them, and thus obstructing perspiration, like the astringent cosmetics, it cleanses the skin from all impurities and wonderfully improves its texture. This peauliarity is particularly appreciated by our rural belies, who find that the coarseness and roughness, which country air is apt to engander, are speedily removed from their faces, hands and arms, by this delightful preparation. Delicate Creatures.
